

Presentation Training

Communication Skills for Managers and Supervisors

In-Person

This seminar will give you the ability to engage your team with active communication that can enhance relationships and create a cohesive team.

What You'll Learn

1. Respond to difficult situations in a confident, diplomatic, and tactful way
2. Energize your communication and motivate people to action
3. Apply techniques to build stronger relationships and gain cooperation

Why you want to learn it

Leading a team today requires you to communicate effectively across all generations and a variety of cultures. This seminar will give you tools to honestly and effectively communicate your thoughts and opinions without arousing resentment or creating conflict.

How it will help you

Communication skills are critical to lead a team in today's fast paced and complex world. This seminar is the next step in developing the skills needed to succeed in your career.