

Leadership Training

Develop Your Leadership Potential: Stop Doing, Start Leading

In-Person

Leadership Training Program for New Managers

What You'll Learn

Develop Your Leadership Potential: Stop Doing, Start Leading goes beyond traditional leadership training programs because it focuses on the foundational interpersonal communication skills that are needed to build strong teams and equip new leaders with the right attitudes to step up and take charge.

Why you want to learn it

We assume that a high-performance employee can immediately translate to a high-performance leader. The fact is that the skill set and mind set are completely different and the transition can be hard. It's hard on new leaders because they have to shift from relying on themselves to relying on others for results. It's hard on the organization because you lose their work output in their prior role and gain a leader who is learning on the job.

How it will help you

This program is specifically designed to address the challenges that new leaders face, to help them change their mindset, and give them confidence with proven strategies and tools that are used by the most successful leaders.