How to Coach Employees to Maximum Achievement

In-Person

Inspiring people to succeed is not what we do, it is who we are. For over 90 years, the 160 Managing Directors and 2800 Certified Instructors of Dale Carnegie Training® have coached managers around the world to achieve excellence. Now you can learn how to use these proven methods to turn every member of your team into a winner at How to Coach Employees to Maximum Achievement.

What You'll Learn

Keep your high achievers challenged and interested, Transform problem employees into assets, Gain cooperation with an appeal that works every time, Go that extra mile, and much more!

Why you want to learn it

This is the time when you have an employee's full attention and you can speak openly and candidly. Yet so many supervisors waste these precious moments in random conversation because they lack the skills to turn these conversations into behavior change opportunities.

How it will help you

As a supervisor or manager, your most productive time to motivate success is in your scheduled one-on-one's or those chance one-on-ones' that occur during the day
