Powerful Conversations to Engage Your Workforce

Live Online

In this fast-paced workshop, you will hone the skills needed to have powerful conversations that improve relationships, build trust, and get real results.

What You’ll Learn

You’ll learn a proven process for connecting with others through effective and engaging conversations. Build questioning skills that help you start a conversation and engage in ways that helps you learn more others. Using the 7 keys to being a great conversationalist, you’ll be able to strike up a conversation with anyone and keep it going naturally and productively.

Why you want to learn it

Leaders who connect with others have stronger professional relationships. Strong relationships lead to improved results. It was Dale Carnegie who first recognized that you can win friends and influence people through the ability to converse competently. Connect through conversation and master an art of engagement that makes you a leader others want to emulate.

How it will help you

Improved conversation skills enable you to more naturally get to know other people. When you connect through meaningful conversation, others grow to trust you more. Through these trusting relationships, collaboration improves, and you and your colleagues will more easily work together to produce increased results.
