Step Up to Leadership

En personne

Dale Carnegie Training® builds the confidence of supervisors and managers by drawing out their natural strengths and providing practical tools to get the job done.

Ce que vous apprendrez

Step Up to Leadership is an information-packed one-day program that covers time management, delegation, conflict resolution, and much more.

Pourquoi vous voulez l'apprendre

New supervisors and managers have the technical skills for the job but often lack the people and leadership skills and tools to gain the best from their teams causing significant stress and conflict

Comment cela va vous aider

Providing supervisors and managers these skills and tools strengthen the business by allowing supervisors to take on more responsibility and cope with the stress. This means you can count on them to be there when they are needed.
