

领导力

Conflict to Collaboration

现场课程

Conflict can be difficult to resolve without the help of others. By collaborating with people inside and outside of your organization, leaders can leverage the diverse talents and experiences of others, gain new perspectives, and uncover unexpected solutions.

学习内容

This business briefing shows how collaboration enables team members to draw upon their unique, individual strengths while creating a sense of unity. You will discover how working communally eases the pressure off single individuals and extends responsibility evenly among team members, giving everyone the opportunity to take command of their roles and excel together

学习原因

This briefing is important to leaders who want to identify opportunities for collaborative problem-solving. Enlist the skills and abilities of others to solve challenges. Collaborate with others to reduce conflict. Build a collaborative environment through shared values.

学习效果

Learn how properly managing conflict can lead to stronger teams. Discover how to extract and apply other individuals' talents and skills to generate creative solutions and gain new insights.